MIUCCIA PRADA HONORED AMONG GLAMOUR'S WOMEN OF THE YEAR

Milan, November 15, 2016 - On November 14th in Los Angeles, Miuccia Prada was honored at Glamour's 2016 Women of the Year awards for her contributions to fashion, art and culture. Glamour Editor-in-Chief Cindi Leive commemorates women's accomplishments at the renowned ceremony by honoring innovators and newsmakers from across the worlds of entertainment, fashion, politics, business, and more.

With a body of work spanning multiple disciplines, Miuccia Prada is recognized as a trailblazer whose critical faculties have shaped a successful and prominent business with a consistent point of view. Prada's innovative spirit is rooted in her sincere interest in the arts, permanently curious and never quite satisfied, and a constant questioning of the contemporary world.
